Personal Data Protection Policy Applicable to Online Visitors

[Company Name] (the “Company”) is committed to protecting the personal data of users of our Website (specifically, the website [Website URL]) (the “Website”). This Personal Data Protection Policy (the “Policy”) describes how the Company manages personal data in accordance with the laws of Vietnam (the “Law”). We encourage you to read this Policy carefully before interacting with the Website so that you know and understand how we collect, use, and process your personal data and the reasons for doing so.

I. Application of the Policy

Personal data means digital data or information in other forms expressed as symbols, writing, numerals, images, sounds, or similar forms that identify or help identify a specific human being. Personal data includes Basic Personal Data and Sensitive Personal Data. Personal data, once de-identified, is no longer considered personal data. Personal data, once encrypted, remains personal data.

For the purpose of collecting your personal data as set out below, we will collect your personal data in the manners mentioned in Section I.3 of this Policy. The collected personal data may include:

- a. Basic Personal Data: Means personal data reflecting personal identifiers and background commonly used in transactions and social relations, such as surname, middle name, and first name as recorded in the birth certificate, contact address, gender, phone number, etc.
- b. Sensitive Personal Data: Means personal data associated with individual privacy which, if infringed, would directly affect the rights and legitimate interests of agencies, organizations, or individuals, such as IP address information, and/or individual location data identified through location services.

By submitting information to or otherwise communicating with the Company, and by explicitly agreeing through actions and/or taking affirmative steps on our Website or platforms as specifically instructed, you thereby indicate your agreement and consent for the Company and our related companies, affiliates, and subsidiaries (hereinafter collectively and individually referred to as “Affiliates”), as well as the respective representatives and/or trustees of these Affiliates (hereinafter collectively referred to as the “Group”, “we”, “us”, or “our”) to collect, use, and process your personal data in accordance with this Policy.

“You” or “your” refers to any individual governed by the Law and includes users of our Website such as employees of clients, investors, shareholders, suppliers, agents, existing and potential business partners, and/or potential job applicants. For the purposes of this Policy, “existing and potential clients” where “you” are employed are referred to as “Corporate Clients”.

This Policy does not supersede any other consent you may have previously provided or provide separately to us regarding your personal data, and your consent to this Policy is in addition to any other rights that the Group already has under the Law. This Policy and your use of the Website shall be governed by the Law in all respects.

From time to time, we may collect information about you from third-party sources and third-party data providers. We strictly strive to ensure that these third parties have sufficient legal and contractual grounds to disclose such information to us. Examples of information we may receive from other sources include demographic information, device information, location, and online behavioral data (such as information about usage of other websites, page view information, search results, and links). We use this information, independently or in combination with other information (including personal data) collected by us, to enhance our ability to provide you with relevant content and marketing activities, as well as to develop and provide you with more suitable updates, news, promotions, features, and services.

II. Collection of Personal Data and Consent

Personal data may be collected from you in one or more of the following ways:

- a. when you visit our Website;
- b. when you enter requested information into contact forms on our Website;
- c. when you post feedback or interact with our customer service staff, for example: via chat boxes, emails, phone calls, or directly through our social media platforms (which may be recorded for training, quality control, business, and/or other legal purposes);
- d. when you request us to contact you, or add you to an email list or other mailing list;
- e. when you respond to our trade promotion programs, campaigns, or other initiatives or attend our events;
- f. when you participate in any contests, surveys, or promotions conducted by us and/or our business partners (including submitting photos);
- g. when you submit your personal data to us for any other reason; and/or
- h. when we collect your personal data by other lawful means.

Unless permitted by Law, we will not collect, use, or process your personal data without your consent. We only collect, use, and process personal data for necessary purposes on a basis that is sufficient and appropriate to achieve such purposes, and only with your consent. To avoid confusion, unless required by Law or competent authorities, we will not collect or require you to provide us with your personal identification number or, if applicable, a copy of your citizen identification card.

You warrant and represent to us that (a) the personal data you disclose to us is accurate and complete; and (b) when you voluntarily provide another person's personal data to us, you are authorized by that person to disclose their personal data to us and that such personal data is accurate and complete.

To provide any information to us or contact or interact with us via relevant sections on the Website, you must be 16 years of age or older. Access to and use of our Website by any person under 16 years of age is only permitted with the explicit consent of their legal representative. If we discover that for any reason and by any means, the personal data of a child under 16 has been submitted to us without valid consent, we reserve the right to delete and/or remove such personal data from our system without prior notice to the person who provided such personal data. Furthermore, in such a case, we will not have any obligation to the data subject or the person who provided the personal data.

You are fully informed that we may collect and use your personal data without your consent in cases permitted by Law. If you decide to give only partial consent, or conditional consent, for us to collect and process your personal data, please follow the instructions provided on our Website or through the relevant communication channels with which you are interacting. If you need further assistance regarding this matter, you may send a request to the email address of our Data Protection Officer as provided in Section XII of this Policy. We will respond to you regarding how we will process and resolve your case. However, please note that to maintain internal operational efficiency, we reserve the right to decline to engage in communications with you if we do not receive your full consent to process personal data.
